

QA workshops

For students in Years 8 and 9

Saturday 31 October, 2009

Logic: another thing that penguins aren't very good at.

Are you interested in logic puzzles? Do you consider yourself a logical person? Do you reason in a logical way? The Queensland Academies workshop explores how our brain uses logic, how computers use it, and how we use it to understand and reason with the world.

Some penguins are old TV shows

Using logic puzzles, students will examine how they think, how they separate logic from reason and the common fallacies connected with both. Students will learn a variety of thinking skills that they may not have been exposed to in the past, and test these skills in real-world situations.

Want to know how to win that argument? The 'some penguins' workshop will show you how.

Where: Queensland Academy for Science, Maths and Technology (78 Bywong Street, Toowong)

When: 8.15 am to 1.00 pm, Saturday 31 October

Cost: $30
